No part of this publication may be reproduced or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic or mechanical, including photocopy, recording, or any information storage and retrieval system, without permission in writing from the Publisher. Exceptions: explicit permission from Elsevier Ltd is not required to reproduce a maximum of two figures or tables from an Elsevier Ltd article in another scientific or research publication provided that the material has not been credited to another source and that full credit to the Elsevier Ltd article is given. In addition, authors of work contained herein need not obtain permission in the following cases only: (1) to use their original figures or tables in their future work; (2) to make copies of their papers for use in their classroom teaching; and (3) to include their papers as part of their dissertations. The appearance of the code at the bottom of the first page of a paper in this journal indicates the copyright owner's consent that copies of the paper may be made for personal or internal use, or for the personal or internal use of specific clients. This consent is given on the condition, however, that the copier pay the stated per-copy fee through the Copyright Clearance Center, Inc., 222 Rosewood Drive, Danvers, MA 01923, 01923 (617) 744-3350, for copying beyond that permitted by Sections 107 or 108 of the US Copyright Law. This consent does not extend to other kinds of copying, such as copying for general distribution, for advertising or promotional purposes, for creating new collective works for resale. Copy fees for pre-2003 articles are as shown on the article title pages; if no fee code appears on the title page, the copy fee is the same as for current articles.
